Explanatory Notes:

Recyclables handling and recovery facility (RHRF) means a solid waste processing facility, other than collection and transfer vehicles, at which nonputrescible recyclables are separated from the solid waste stream or at which previously separated nonputrescible recyclables are processed.

These facilities can be as large as automated Materials Recovery Facilities that handle more than 100,000 tons per year of recyclables, or they can be very small, such as recyclables drop-off sites for residents in rural communities.

There are some facilities that may handle recyclables but are not considered RHRFs. See 6 NYCRR Subpart 360-12.
