

Presenting:
The
New York State
Gem

The GARNET

What It Is:

Garnet is a mineral that is usually a dark red color in New York.

Where You Find It: Garnet is found mainly in the Adirondacks in New York State. It can also be found in the southeastern part of the state and in many other places throughout the world.

What It Is Used For: Garnet is very hard and sharp. It is used for sandpaper and to stonewash jeans. It is a gemstone, which means it is rare and has brilliant colors. If you are born in January, garnet is your birthstone.

••••• Draw three things that are made of rocks. •••••

