

Animal Adaptations

Top: Katydid's green color helps it hide.
 middle: Spots on the eyed elater beetle look like eyes to scare off a predator.
 bottom: The box turtle is protected by its shell.

This walking stick insect looks like a twig.

Here are some types of animal adaptations. Match the animal to its adaptation (it can have more than one). Can you think of other animals that have similar adaptations?

Adaptation

Animal

Is camouflaged

Little brown bat

Ruffed grouse

Has a shell

Bee

Hibernates or sleeps during winter

Eastern bluebird

Migrates

White-tailed deer

Runs fast

Stings

Box turtle