

Hurricane Mountain Wilderness - Big and Little Crow Mountains

Little Crow Mountain (2,535 feet) - The trail ascends 845 feet and 0.9 mile from the Hurricane Road Trailhead to the summit of Little Crow Mountain (2,535 ft.). The trail contains moderate climbs with a few steep sections with a number of scenic views from ledges along the way.

Big Crow Mountain (2,815 feet) - Climb another 280 feet and another 0.6 mile to reach the summit of Big Crow Mountain. Many scenic views of the surrounding peaks can be found along the way and on the summit. Big Crow Mountain can be reached from the Crow's Clearing Trailhead hiking a 0.6-mile trail that ascends approximately 300 feet - most of the ascent is in the last half of the trail. Using the trail, Hurricane Road and O'Toole Road provides a 3.5-mile loop trail from either of the trailheads.
