

McKenzie Mountain Wilderness - Whiteface Mtn & Whiteface Landing

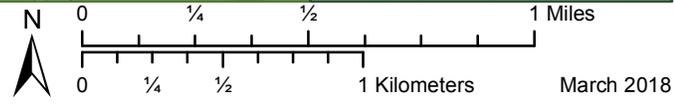

The Whiteface Mountain trail extends 3.5 miles and ascends 3,010 feet from Whiteface Landing to the summit of the mountain. The first mile of the trail ascends gently, the second mile ascends moderately and the last 1.5 miles is a steep ascent. The summit provides views of Lake Champlain, the Green Mountains of Vermont, the High Peaks region, and a large portion of the northeastern Adirondacks. On very clear days Montreal can be seen. Whiteface Landing can be accessed via the waters of Lake Placid or the Whiteface Landing Trail.

Whiteface Landing Trail begins at Connery Pond in the adjacent Saranac Lake Wild Forest off State Route 86. The trail extends 2.5 miles and ascends 310 feet from the trailhead, descending 60 feet in the last 0.25 mile to Whiteface Landing. The first mile is fairly flat and then the trail ascends moderately for the next mile.

Department of Environmental Conservation

Please respect private property. Stay on designated trails
 Practice Leave No Trace Principles
 Emergency contact 518-891-0235

March 2018